U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

DIVERSITY EMPLOYMENT AND RECRUITMENT SOURCES GUIDE

INTRODUCTION

Effective human resources management has been identified as one of four critical success factors in the Department of Energy Strategic Plan. The Plan states relative to this factor: "The Department seeks greater alignment of resources with agency priorities and increased diversification of the workforce, including gender, ethnicity, age, and skills. This diversification will bring new thinking and perspectives that heretofore have not had a voice in departmental decision-making." This Guide has been developed as a key tool to assist Department of Energy management and administrative staff in achieving Goal 2 of this critical success factor, which is to "Ensure a diverse and talented workforce."

There are numerous sources from which to recruit minorities, women and persons with disabilities. Applying creativity and proactive effort, using traditional and non-traditional approaches, and reaching out to various professional, academic and social communities will increase the reservoir of qualified candidates from which to make selections. In addition, our outreach initiatives will undoubtedly yield further benefits such as a richer cultural understanding and diversity awareness.

We hope you will find this Diversity Employment and Recruitment Sources Guide helpful. While the resource listings are comprehensive, they are not intended to be exhaustive. They are offered to encourage active participation in the diversity recruitment process. As we strive to meet our important diversity strategic goal, we hope that the effort will also reflect our commitment to the core values of the Department, such as "People are our most important resource," and "We are committed to excellence."

For additional information and assistance with your diversity recruitment efforts, you may contact the Special Employment and Employee Development Division, Office of Personnel, HR-321, Washington, D. C., telephone number (202) 586-4231.

Over five thousand corporations and firms are involved in Projects with Industry, a program initiated by the U. S. Department of Education, that has already placed over one hundred thousand people with disabilities in jobs. The Electronic Industries Foundation, the AFL-CIO, IBM and Honeywell are just a few of the organizations that serve as senior partners and managers.
